Eileen Wirth, PhD, is professor emeritus of journalism at Creighton University and a senior writer for Legacy Preservation in Omaha. She is a former reporter at the Omaha World-Herald and the author of seven books, including From Society Page to Front Page: Nebraska Women in Journalism. She is active in many groups and sits on the board of the Nebraska State Historical Society.

I'm a lifelong fan of the Henry Doorly Zoo, so reading Eileen Wirth's new book brought back so many positive memories of my childhood. More importantly, the book provides an insightful, behind-the-scenes account of what it took to transform what was once merely a city park with a few animal displays into the world's best zoo. Eileen does an outstanding job of chronicling the extraordinary vision of Dr. Lee Simmons, former zoo director, and the incredible philanthropic commitment of Omaha's civic leaders. Eileen is a diligent researcher and a seasoned writer, who has used her talents to create a fascinating, quick-reading book about Nebraska's #1 tourist attraction. I highly recommend this book to anyone who enjoys visiting the zoo or is interested in Omaha history.
