Another place to be included in your bucket list of travels. It is sometimes a hassle to travel, especially when you are not familiar with the place so it is important to study or at least have a background check first for the place you are going to especially if it is your first time in there. And if you have a plan on going to Melbourne, this book will be a great guide. It has so many details about the city, from the overview, to of course tourist spots, the must see's and must try's. It is organized in a way that you will not have any trouble of having no enough time. By just reading the book, I already want to book a flight to Melbourne as soon as I am available.

I've been wanting to go to Melbourne since last year and I'm still saving up to go there. All the info at Wikitravel pretty much sums up the reason why I want to go there. But I never really thought about the actual planning of the trip and maybe it's because I can't afford it yet. But thinking about it for a brief moment just overwhelms me because there is just so much to do. I wish there was a more narrowed list of top things I should do if I should ever set foot there. This book nails it! Like totally! It gave more than 20 big reasons to go there and I'll make sure I have this book with me once I can finally afford to visit there.

There were a few unique recommendations, but eerily similar to another guide I got on . Overall, okay, but don't pay for it.

This book is a great help .The author put everything I wanted from a travel guide book. It gives a list of places where you can shop, dine, stay, explore and even their secret places. It also adds the transportation so won't never get lost while exploring the city also some helpful tips not to fall in tourist trap. I really enjoy this book and I am sure this book will help me when I will travel to Melbourne very soon. Really recommended.

I actually enjoyed reading this book giude to the end. Finding out about all the fascinating and spectacular places to visit in Melbourne kept me very intrigued. I definitely need to go and visit melbourne so I can go and see the wonderful places described to me so beautifully, in person. And of course the enjoyable things to do and to eat there.

Very superficial.
