Todd Caudle has been photographing Colorado's landscape for more than 30 years. His work has appeared in a host of regional and national publications, including View Camera, Backpacker, 5280, Shutterbug and Rolling Stone magazines, and Sierra Club calendars, as well as on the covers of the Colorado Official State Vacation Guide and the Colorado Springs Visitors' Guide. His book, 14,000 Feet - A Celebration of Colorado's Highest Mountains, won the Colorado Book Award in 2006. His work can also be seen in a variety of Colorado calendars and books, also published by Skyline Press and available at .com. His newest books, "Colorado Wildflowers" and "Pikes Peak - Above the Clouds" are also available.

Always look forward to the new Colorado Fourteeners calendar. Always spectacular pictures. A nice way to spend the winter waiting for the mountains to open up again.

One of my favorite calendars that I get every year. Makes you want to drop everything and go outside and hike. I love the perspective of the photos. Like the view you would see if you were hiking these peaks. Not the usual distance view that you can get from a postcard.

Just as beautiful as always; bought one every year since 2007.

I brought this calendar for my mom we are from Colorado but no longer live there but we miss it. So the calendar allows us to enjoy some beautiful pictures of Colorado.

The 2017 Fourteeners calendar has some impressive photographs. This year, the 14ers pictured are: Mount Yale, Kit Carson Mountain, El Diente Peak, Mount Democrat, Quandary Peak, San Luis Peak, Mount Massive, Mount Eolus, Blanca Peak, Ellingwood Point, Pikes Peak, Mount Evans, Maroon & North Maroon Peaks, Missouri Mountain, and Mount Columbia. Of these sixteen, I have done eleven. This calendar provides a standard presentation of each month divided into a grid of five weeks. There is also a page for November/December 2016. Each page is placed below a mountain photograph page. The pages are fourteen by eleven inches. Each day in the calendar grid has its own 1-7/8 by 1-7/8 inch box, leaving sufficient space for notes. Astronomical events and holidays are indicated. I recommend this calendar for anyone who is a fourteener fanatic or who likes mountain photographs. If it is sold out and you cannot get to the Tattered Cover, there are other web sites which may still have one: "Calendars" or "Skylinepress."
