Mead Mountain: An Inspiring Christian Novel

Synopsis

Riley Ellison is in love. World-famous Christian leader and bestselling author, Riley Ellison loves like a lit sparkler. His genuine affection for even the most wretched burns with scorching heat, brilliant colors and frenzied energy. It's no wonder God chose him to orchestrate His miracle. Pastor Ellison invites the press to join him in exactly two weeks, at which time he will tell Mead Mountain to move on live television, and in accordance with the promises revealed in Scripture, he claims it will move. The lines are drawn and everyone must choose a side. If the mountain moves at Ellison's command, no one could reasonably continue to doubt God's existence, and America will enter into the next Great Awakening. If it does not move, pews will be emptied, believers will be shamed into silence, and the faithful will be made a laughingstock worldwide. In the meantime, Ellison continues to do what he always does: attempt to shine Christ's joy into a dark and broken world. He encounters a gun-toting drunk, a God-hating celebrity, and a desperate woman trying to save the life of her son. Will Ellison's relentless pursuit to emulate Jesus act as a transforming force in the lives around him, or will the horrendous pain of this world cause Riley's spark to finally burn out? And will any of it be enough to overcome the biases of the reporter assigned to his story? It will take a miracle. Mead Mountain is unlike any novel you've ever read. It's when we've observed deep sorrow, that we can truly triumph in joy. When we understand our brokenness, then we can properly value His sacrifice. Trust me, if you knew the hopelessness He delivered me from, then you'd understand the intensity of my worship! Mead Mountain is intense. The light is always brightest with the first step out of darkness. Mead Mountain will make you squint, make you cry, and leave you breathless.

Who is B.K. Dell? Picture a theater. You hand your ticket to a man who rips it in half and sends you to the first usher. The first usher tells you the floor where your seat is located. The second usher tells you the section. The third usher tells you the row. Each time you are led deeper into the theater and handed off to someone who can help guide you. Finally, you count off the numbers on the seats and settle in right where you belong. In this analogy, the theater is salvation. The ushers are theologians, pastors, counselors, scholars, mentors, friends, parents, even novelists. They can answer every question you have about the show, the characters, the Author, the lighting, the set, and even what year the theater was built. But not me. I am not one of those ushers, and I definitely can't answer all of your questions. My knowledge of this theater consists of mainly the alley behind it – the alley where it's cold and dark, and there are ragged hobos; there are addicts, and drunks, and thieves, and prostitutes; there is loneliness, and hopelessness, and pain. This is where I've lived, and this is what I can say for certain: life is better inside the theater. And so my career is dedicated to standing among the wretched, my brothers, holding up tickets, saying, "Show tonight! Come inside where it's warm. I'm begging you. You've been out here long enough. Come and see. It's not what you're expecting. Come in and find out. Your admission has already been paid." •

Wonderful story of the same type of people one hears about everyday....maybe even are one. Folks fighting sin but not labelling it sin....it is just them stuck and too afraid to take hold of the answers they truly seek. God can and is working in their life if only.....a mountain would move! Good read. Kept my interest. Likable characters who were well developed. Recommended read!

Best Christian fiction I have read! The book is riveting, thought provoking, and relevant to today. I'm going to buy the hard copy because I want to pass it along to others.

I feel this book is one that genuinely shows the true nature of humankind. We all struggle with our beliefs and feel defeat and agony. Mead Mountain shows us we are not alone. God is always with us, loving us, and holding us in the palm of God's hand.

Gripping novel that gives great insight to the human condition and our faith in God. The way is narrow and few will find it...even if the mountain moves. I am an avid reader of Christian Fiction and was so excited to see this new book with 5 star reviews. I wasn't disappointed and will be sharing with friends. I'll be thinking about this one for a long time. Today, I plan to buy a mustard seed and tie a string around my finger.

I would recommend this book to everyone! It was a story I will want to read again and there will be underlined parts in red. I liked that important truths were emphasized by examples from real people's lives in all their pain, suffering and then joy.

Just finished "Mead Mountain" by B.K. Dell. A great read. I felt as though I was entering into the heart and mind of each character. B. K. Dell does a beautiful job of depicting events, using his words like an artist would use a paintbrush. The Gospel is woven in seamlessly into a very believable narrative. Each page brought the question "what's going to happen next"? I couldn't put the book down. More than once, I was brought to tears. More than once I smiled with joy. Dell is a gifted writer. I wait with anticipation for the next page-turner that will come from his creative mind.

Great read. Kept my interest from the beginning to the end. As a Christian, it is giving me a lot to think about.

I read all the time but this the best book I've read lately. As an Intercessors and military veteran I love this country would love to see it restored to God. I have recommended this book to all my friends and family.
